No. 1421 I Street, N.W.,
Washington, D.C.

Feby 20/78

30

My dear Mr. Garrison

I send you a new edition of my letters, together with your own to me, and an introductory note in which I have taken the liberty to incorporate an extract from your letter to me of Jany 29th. The sentence was a very striking one to me as well as gratifying and I am sure you will forgive my action.

The issue of the letters is delayed because I am making an appendix reviewing the various explanations of the bargain which the guilty parties have risen to make; and which of themselves prove them guilty.

Ms. A.1.2 v.40 p.16 B

The prosecution of the Louisiana Board is rousing Garfield & Co; But the difficulty lies deeper than the prosecution of those four men; the whole cause has been betrayed. I wish I could be as hopeful as you about it.

Still I can see that it is easier to rouse public sentiment than it was when you began your life-work.

With many regards

Wm E. Chandler

Mr. Garrison

Ms.A.1.2 v.40, p.16B